

To Whom It May Concern:

We live in Moscow, own property in Lakeview, have a boat slip at MacDonalds, and frequently pass through the no wake zone as we boat over to Lakeview. We are strong supporters of the no wake zone and do not regard it as a nuisance in any way. It is a brief period of tranquility in our boating experience where one does not really have to be concerned with dodging other boats, jet skis, and debris.

As you pass through the zone, one also feels good knowing that you are not causing damage to the shoreline, docks, and other structures in the area.

Keep up the good work.
